

Rattlesnake

I see you slither on the desert's plain.
You rattle to warn whoever's near.
It's like you are saying,
Go away, I'm here.
Your scales are smooth and shiny like windows.
Then you slither under a rock to rest
as the sun hides.
Now you are hunting again.

By:
Margie Mendez
Grade 2